SINKING OF BRITISH SHIPS

Sixty Officers of Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue Were Killed.

RESCUED IN HOLLAND.

Survivors Will be Returned to England—Status Shipwrecked Sailors and Will Not be Interned.

London, Sept. 24—Captain Johnson, of the cruiser Cressy, was the only commanding officer who lost his life on Tuesday when the Cressy Aboukir, and Hogue were torpedoed by German submarines and sunk.

Captain Drummond, of the Aboukir and Captain Nicholson, of the Hogue were rescued and have sent official reports of the disaster to the armirality.

The latest revised figures received here today show that of the officers on the cruisers, twenty-four on the Aboukir were killed and seventeen saved; on the Cressy twenty-five killed, fourteen saved, and on the Hogue eleven killed, twenty-nine saved.

All of the rescued who were taken to Holland will be returned to England. Advices from the Hague today state that the Dutch authorities have decided that there is no necessity of these men being interned until the end of the war.

Their status is that of shipwrecked sailors involuntarily landed at a neutral port.

They will be quartered temporarily in the Gaasterland camp until arrangements have been completed for their return to England.

ATTACK MOTHER WITH AX.

Brutal Son in Philadelphia Calmly Admits Attack on Parent.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—For beating his aged mother over the head with an axe, Edward Smith, of No. 166 West Atlantic street, was arrested yesterday. The police say Smith not only beat his parent into insensibility, but calmly hacked the unconscious form and then left it lying on the floor, while he shaved in the same room.

Smith and his mother were cleaning their house yesterday. The mother, who is 69 years old, is afflicted with an ailment which caused her to stop in the work from time to time to rest. With this the son had no patience. Each time his mother rested he grew more angry. Finally his rage leaped all bounds.

Rushing down to the cellar, he procured a heavy axe. He ran upstairs again, and found his mother in the dining room. Without a word the man swung the axe at her and hit her a glancing blow on the cheek. She screamed and fell to the floor, but was not badly hurt. She crawled across the room, but the man was after her. Standing over her, he deliberately struck her over the head with the broad side of the axe, rendering her unconscious and fracturing her skull.

While she lay upon the floor with blood oozing from her wounds, the man began to shave. He was half way through when he seemed to detect some movement on the part of the unconsicous woman. It is then that he is said to have reached for the axe and beaten his mother again.

New York, Sept. 24.—Tommy Mullaney and Jimmy Horgan, two soldier boys of seven, who charged on their stick-horses up to the enemy's fort yesterday morning, are dying of real wounds received in the sham battle. Eight-year-old Johnny Horgan, who held the fort, is seriously wounded. The boys found a one-pound loaded shell in a vacant apartment, and, during the battle, exploded it with a hammer.

The attack upon Dusseldorf was officially reported as having been successful. Because of the mist the Cologne expedition failed, but the other flew over the Zeppelin sheds at Dusseldorf, throwing down a number of bombs. CRUSHING BLOWS ON GERMAN RIGHT

Thousands of Allies Fall Under Blighting Rain of Lead.

Paris, Sept 24—Crushing blows upon the German right, persistently delivered under the blighting hail of lead, with thousands falling under each bayonet charge are giving the allies trench by trench, steadily advance in their flanking movements.

Desperate is the hold the Kaiser's armies are maintaining upon French soil. General von Kluck, re-enforced by the army of Belgium under von Boehm is facing a perilous situation as the pressure is slowly crumbling up his lines.

On the German center, General von Buelow is hammering at the Rheims, Craonne defense, in an attempt to break through. Upon his success determines the fate of the entire invasion.

Step by step, the French and British left continues its advance along the Oise in the triangle formed by the Aisne, Oise, and Lette rivers.

In a series of attacks, delivered with desperation last night, the Germans failed to break through the French center.

J., and a license from Pittsburgh, dated 1911. He carried a small amount of money, a bunch of keys, a key to a hotel, on which was stamped No. 16. In his pocket was a letter addressed to George H. Wolf, Pittsburgh, and as this name agrees with the initials in the coat, the police are of the belief that he is Wolf.

CHOLERA AMONG TROOPS

Nine Cases Of Asiatic Plague Develops In Hungary.

Venice, by way of Paris, Sept. 24—Nine cases of Asiatic cholera have been discovered among wounded soldiers in Hungary, according to an official announcement by the Hungarian Minister of the Interior. The announcement has excited great apprehension throughout the dual monarchy.

Both Austrian and Hungarian Ministers of the Interior are taking the utmost precautions against a spread of the disease.

Vienna is waiting with keen anxiety news of the progress of the fighting against the Russians and Servians but nothing is forthcoming beyond the bare official statements that there are no new developments in the eastern theatre of the war.

MASONIC SIGN SAVES 50

Ostend, Sept. 24—The power of Free Masonry is illustrated by a story told here by a citizen of Louvain who says that with the Masonic sign he saved 50 of his fellow-citizens from being shot to death by German troops.

This group of citizens, declares the Belgian Mason, had been lined up for execution. The German firing party had their rifles ready when the narrator gave a Masonic sign. The German officer commanding the firing squad recognized a brother Mason and ordered him to leave the ranks. This meant sparing his life. The Louvain citizen refused saying: "My fellow citizens are no more guilty than I am. If you are going to kill them I shall be killed with them." The German officer thereupon ordered the release of the entire party.

MAY LOSE 1,000,000 MEN

Germany Willing to Pay High Price For Victory.

London, Sept. 24—"Germany is prepared to lose one million men in battle. She is absolutely confident. Not even the sight of long train filled with the dead have dampened her ardor"—That statement contains the gist of talks had with five men who have recently returned from Germany. With three of them an American lawyer, a doctor, and a college student—I had personal talks. One of the remaining pair is the proprietor of a metropolitan newspaper in the United States. The other is a newspaper man who has for years been stationed in Berlin. He came to London on business, and has since returned. Their statements were repeated to me by a thoroughly responsible man. The five agreed in all important particulars.

What follows i a digest of their talk:

"Contrary to the statements I have seen in London papers, there is no panic in Germany. Germans are quite convinced they will be completely triumphant. They know they must pay a heavy price, and they are prepared to pay it. There is no dissension among them. They are supporting their war lord quite as loyally as the English and French are upholding their own leaders. It has been said that the French regard this as a holy war. The Germans manifest the same spirit."

"In the event of a crusning German defeat, will there be a democratic revolution in Germany? Will the house of Hohenzollern be overturned?

This question was not put to the newspaper proprietor. The four other gave answer as follows:

"That question will not even arise if today's conditions may be relied upon as a groundwork for judgement Germans of every class have a worshipful admiration for the Kaiser.

"Every German implicitly believes that this war was sure to come eventually. Most Germans have looked forward to the time when they may try conclusions with their old enemy France. Every German believes that the other nations have made common cause with France, not because the Gallic cause is just, but because of a jealousy and fear of Germany they all shared. If defeat comes—which is a possibility they do not entertain for a moment—it will be because for the moment the world has been against them. The next time Germany will be strong enough for all."

MEXICO AFLAME AGAIN TODAY

Plans For Peace Recognition of Government in Confusion.

SERIOUS SITUATION.

No Change in Purpose for Removal of American Troops From Vera Cruz by Reason of Trouble.

Washington, Sept. 24.—With Mexico aflame again today in the new revolt of General Villa against General Carranza, plans and hopes of the Administration for peace, recognition of the constitutionalists and withdrawal of American troops were thrown into utter confusion.

It was officially announced this morning that there will be no change in plans for removal of American troops at Vera Cruz by reason of the present trouble.

President Wilson and his advisers are considering what steps the United States will take.

The first important action by the Administration in the new and admittedly serious situation was the order to George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department, to confer at Chihuahua with General Villa. Carothers is to sound out Villa and ask the revolting chieftain to consider other methods than hostilities to settle his dispute with Carranza.

Immediate return of Paul Fuller of New York, and possibly John Lind, to Mexico as personal representatives of the President in a movement to prevent further bloodshed is also under consideration.

Rafael Zubaran and Senor Urquidi, constitutionalist representatives in Washington, profess to see in Villa's declaration of hostilities a subtle, veiled move to split Mexico in twain and establish a new republic in the north of Mexico. They were advised last night in a long telegram from Carranza of Villa's hostile action and that Carranza, as a move for self preservation, had ordered railroad communication north from Mexico City suspended.

BEHEADED IN STREET

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 24—In haste to join some playmates on the opposite side of the street from her home, No. 1924 Passyunk avenue, yesterday, 4 year old May Sommers ran directly in front of a swiftly moving trolley car and was instantly killed, her head being actually severed from her body by the wheels. Dominic Travgalina, the motorman, made a desperate effort to stop the car but was unable to do so. He was placed under arrest, and Magistrate Renshaw, at City Hall, held him for the action of the coronor.

The child's mother saw the accident from the window of her room on the third floor. but did not know who had been killed until a little girl ran up the stairs and abruptly told her that May was dead.

SERVIANS ADVANCING

Official Announcement At Nish Declares Austrians are In Retreat

Nish, Servia, Sept 24—The following official statement has been given out.

"After a nine-day struggle the Austrians, whose both wings have been beaten completely, are in full retreat along the whole front, from Liubovia to Losnitza. The Servians are pursueing them vigorously. Servian columns from Vishegard and Baina Bashta continue their progress into the interior of Bosnia."

London Sept. 24—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegraph Company from Nish says that Servian troops have recaptured Liubovia after violent fighting in which the losses were very heavy on each side. Farther to the left the Servians have occupied Srebrenica 10 miles southwest of Lubovia, in Bosnia.

Washington, Sept, 24—A telegram received from Paris by the French Embassy states that "In Servia a general battle has been in progress for a week in the region of Krupanj."

The annual inspection of the Alexandria Light Infantry, was held last night in their armory by Colonel Jo Lane Stern, inspector of Virginia militia.

VIRGINIA GIRL'S ADVENTURE

New York, Sept 24—Mrs. Harry Lehr, a passenger aboard the Olympic, told of riding through France on troop trains with wounded British and French soldiers. Mrs. Lehr said that the conditions of the men was appalling, and the stories they told of treatment by Germans on the battlefield and in the French and Belgian towns were heartrending.

A story of great severity in handling French prisoners was told by Miss Ethel Stanard, of Staunton, Va. who arrived on the Olympic.

"I was caught in Munich by the war" said Miss Stanard, "and did not leave until September 5, when I got out on a special train to Rotterdam. A couple of days before I left I was in the restaurant of the Hotel Continental with a Spanish friend. As he could not talk English and neither of us could talk German we were conversing in French. Suddenly a German officer in plain clothes who was also in the restaurant, came up and arrested us as spies. When we were told that we would have to go to the police station I asked if we couldn't go in a taxi. The man said that we could if we paid for it.

"When we got there I found that I would have to have my passport in order to establish my identity. As it was in my room at the hotel, I was escorted back there with a German policemen on either side of me. They both carried guns over their shoulders and they scared me to death. A few days before I was in my room at a hotel in Augensburg, when three German sodiers marched in without warning. I lad on a kimono, but they would't wait for me to put on a dress before they took me off to the station where I proved that I was an American and was allowed to go.

"Our special train stopped for a quarter of an hour just outside of Frankfort-on-the-Main. Right next to us was a train containing some 2,000 French prsioners. Some of them were wounded, but nothing was being done for their care. I talked with some of them and they told me that they were given only one meal a day Our train had a diner so I got them what food and cigarettes I could. I also had some flowers which I gave them and they were very grateful."

ECHOES OF THIS WEEK'S CONTEST

Belated Returns Swell Majority Recorded for Prohibition.

COUNT ABOUT 35,000.

Few Changes When Official Count is Made Will Not Change Results More Than Few Hundred.

Richmond, Sept. 24—State-wide prohibition's victory at the polls in Virginia continues to grow. Only a few scattering, belated returns from Tuesday's election were received yesterday, and they merely served to increase the majority rolled up by the "dry" forces. This majority, it is now conceded, will be about 35,000. Practically all returns still to be reported are from counties already "dry" and where a victory for State-wide is assured. There will be various minor charge in the returns from the various counties when the official count is made. but they will not be sufficient to change the result more than a few hundred votes, one way or the other.

South Boston, Va. Sept. 24—Complete returns give the official vote for Halifax County: 1,515 votes for State-wide prohibition and 791for local option, giving Halifax a majority for the drys by 724 votes. South Boston polled 225 for State-wide and 155 against, giving the drys a majority of 70.

Lynchburg, Sept. 24—Correct, but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election in Amherst County, show a majority of 350 for State wide prohibition. The detailed vote is not available here. The Monroe Precinct, where the divisional terminals of the various minor changes in the returns Southern Railway are located, and where a railway man lost his life, although acting as a peacemaker, was shot and instantly killed during a drunken brawl, gave 53 to 1 for State-wide. Nearly every precinct in the county voted "dry"

New Castle, Va. Sept. 24—Craig County gives 351 for State-wide prohibition and 143 against.

Winchester, Va. Sept. 24—Frederick County's official vote for State-wide is 388 against 148.

Lexington, Va. Sept. 24—Complete unofficial returns from all precincts in Rockbridge give 914 votes for State-wide prohibition and 586 against. State-wide prohibition's majority in Rockbridge and Buena Vista is 414.

Luray, Va. Sept. 24—Thirteen hundred and eighteen votes were polled in Page County Tuesday, a majority of 244 was against State-wide.

Baltimore, Sept. 24—Members and officials of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League are rejoicing over the triumph of the prohibition movement in Virginia. They see in it a tremendous boost that they believe will result in a similar victory in this State.

Representatives of the liquor interests, members and officials of the Distiller's and Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of Maryland confess that the election in the neighboring State is "a hard blow," but apparently they are not terrified at the effect it might have on Maryland.

"The Virginia dry majority was magnificent," Dr. T. M. Hare, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League said. "I firmly believe that it will prove the strongest sort of an impetus toward the passage of an enabling act to establish State-wide prohibition in Maryland.

"Furthermore, I think that it cannot fail have a strong effect on Congress, and that the Hobson-Sheppard bill now has a better chance than ever."

Colonel William A. Hoykin, president of the Distillers' and Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of Maryland, is just as optimistic in the other direction, though he admits the Virginia election is a severe setback to the liquor interests.

SERIOUS DIFFICULTIES

Negro Dangerously Cut in Fight Bites Off Adversary's Ear—Dog Swallows Member.

Great excitement was caused on south Alfred street yesterday afternoon by a fight between Lee Walker and George Williams, both colored. Williams used a knife on Walker, slashing him across the stomach, inflicting a serious wound. Walke. retaliated by getting one of Williams' ears between his teeth and biting off that member. A passing dog swallowed it, thereby frustrating any attempts at autoplasm which might have been attempted by physicians.

Policemen Kern and Campbell appeared and took the belligerents in custody, but they realized the necessity of conveying Walker to the Alexandria Hospital at once. Twenty-four stitches were taken in his wound.

When the case was called in the Police Court this morning it was continued until Walker shall have recovered sufficiently to be present.

An alarm of fire between nine and ten o'clock last night brought together a large crowd of persons on south Patrick street. A lamp had been upset in a house, but no serious damage resulted.

About the time the engines were being returned to their houses incessant cries of distress in the same neighborhood caused the crowd to return. Screams of a woman, as though she was about to be slaughtered, created considerable excitement, and the police soon appeared. A colored woman named Lena Jackson, was causing all the commotion, and she alleged that George Mizel had attacked her. Mizel was placed under arrest and the case came up in the Police Court this morning. The woman stated that she endeavored to induce the prisoner, who was disorderly, to go home.

Justice Caton fined Mizel $10.

Infantry Will Aid Japanese Troops in Operations in the Far East.

Tokyo. Sept. 24—It was officially announced today that British infantry have landed to re-enforce the Japanese land forces operating against the German concession of Kiaochow on the Shantung peninsula These British troops were sent from Hongkong.

According to the official statement, the bulk of the Japanese expedition already has been landed, and has taken up positions commanding the outer defenses of Kiachow. It is stated that the general attack on the German positions will probably commence about the end of the month.

The Japanese now hold the main line of the railroad that runs to Kiachow. They have dynamited the bridge between Tsingtau and Kiaochow, and are isolating the German possessions so that their food supply recently received from Chinese sources, has been cut off.

It is announced that the Japanese aviators continue their flights over the German territory, and have successfully destroyed the entire wireless plant.

The Corporation Court, with Judge L. C. Barley, presiding, is in session today. No business was disposed of and one case was continued.

Express Companies Reach Agreement With State Corporation Commission Yesterday.

There will be no increase in the express rates from Alexandria to other points in the state and small decreases will be made on packages weighing less than 50 pounds. An agreement was reached to this effect yesterday in Richmond when the state corporation commission held a hearing on the application of the express companies for changes in their tariffs on intrastate business. Both increases and decreases would follow the adoption of the new method of making rates by which the state would be divided into zones. Practically all of the commercial bodies in the state were represented, the chamber of Commerce of Alexandria, having sent James T. Preston, its secretary and treasurer, to represent them.

Previous to the convening of the Corporation Commission all of the differences between the small cities were adjusted. It was agreed by the representatives of the express companies to maintain in force the law commodity rate from Alexandria on ice, beer, meats and bread.

The only objection to the new rates were filed by Richmond where very favorable rates on produce coming to the capital, having been in effect for many years. The Commission took this protest under advisement. Mr. Preston returned home last night.

FORCED CABINET TO QUIT

Great Britain's Minister of War made Bitter Complaint Against Dilatory Commander.

New York, Sept. 24—The Evening World publishes an interview with Dr. Fred S. Mason, of New York, who returned on the Olympic, in which informed by a high French official of the physician claims to have been Boulogne that it was Lord Kitchener Britain's Minister of War, who forced the resignation of the French Cabinet shortly after the outbreak of the war.

Dr. Mason according to the Evening World is a close friend of Surgeon-General Bell, of th British expeditionary force in France.

General Bell introduced him to the French official, Dr. Mason said, and the following is a report of the facts as they were told to him:

"When 100,000 British under General French were opposed by 225,000 Germans of General Von Kluck's army at Mons, General French saw that he was in a desperate situation. After the first day's fighting and when the overwhelming forces of the Germans threatened to surround the entire British expeditionary forces, General French sent an earnest appeal for aid to the French military commander of that district. He asked that 40,000 French troops be rushed to his assistance at once.

"The French commander did not respond to General French's appeal for three days, and by that time the British had managed to cut their way out of the German trap by almost superhuman effort and at a tremendous loss. They were in full retreat away from Mons when their reinforcements arrived. Though Gen. French made casual mention of the failure of the French forces to assist him in his official report designed for publication, he sent a more complete and bitter complaint direct to Lord Kitchener, saying that the failure of the French to answer his plea had put the whole army in jeopardy.

"Lord Kitchener was furious. He made a secret trip to Paris, and laid his complaint against the dilatory French commander, before President Poincare and the French War Minister. The latter ,who was a friend of the general complained against, refused to punish him. Whereupon Kitchener threatened the president of France with practical withdrawl of the British expeditionary forces from the field, unless the general were court-martialed.

"President Poincare later, to make every concession to Lord Kitchener, forced the resignation of his whole Cabinet, which was disposed to back up the War Minister in opposition to Kitchener, This was on August 26, about a week after the batte of Mons A very serious crisis in the affairs of the allies was thus averted, and Kitchener triumphed."

The electoral board met this morning in the office of Nevell S. Greenaway, clerk of courts and canvassed the returns of Tuesday's elections. The official figures showed for prohibition 358; against 1121.

VILLA IS DEFIANT.

While many people in the United States preferred to believe the fires of civil war in Mexico were about expired, others, better acquainted with the situation and the temper of some of the leaders in that turbulent country, were pessimistic and expressed the belief that a lull only existed. The defiance of the Carranza government by General Villa shows the latter class were correct. The order for the evacuation of Mexico by United States trops may have to be countermanded.

When it was suggested a few weeks ago that the time had come to order American vessels from Vera Cruz and receiving people in that city believed such action would prove premature, and considerable anxiety was expressed, especially by foreigners, lest trouble would follow.

The present revolt of Villa against Carranza will prove a serious one and there is no telling when peace conditions will finally prevail.

At the outbreak of the great war in Europe there was a decided lull in the warlike spirit of the Mexicans, and it was hoped they would sheath the sword and become, with the United States, lookers on probably the greatest conflict in the history of our planet. While the dark cloud was gradually overspreading most of the civilized nations, devastating the old world and penetrating the antipodes, it was hoped that the American continent would be kept in the white zone. Such hopes, however, are about to be shattered and the vexatious struggle of the republic on the south is to continue to cast its blight over a people among the oldest on the continent and who should today be the equal in every respect of any on the globe.

DEMOCRATIC TEXT BOOK.

The Democratic Congressional Committee has issued the Democratic Text Book for the year 1914. The contents of this publication afford food for thought for all disposed to stop and think in these troublous times, and, in the language of a contemporary, to thank God that a sober hand is at the helm of state in probably the most critical period in the world's history. Progressives openly say the yare glad Theodore Roosevelt is not handling the ribbons, while Republicans are equally as loud in saying they a reglad W. H. Taft went out of office at an opportune time. The one is impetuous and inclined to precipitancy; the other disposed to allow the ship of state to drift.

The book recites many facts in connection with the administration of Woodrow Wilson which should be pondered well. In the words of the president himself. "There have been ups and countercurrents, but the country has moved forward." The record of the past eighteen months, of favorable comparison with those of great administrations and great Congresses in the crisis of American history. The publication records the story of a peaceful transition and the resumption of popular government at Washington. The election by a popular vote gave the democratic party the opportunity and the organization has availed itself of it and accomplished feats that were regarded as impossibilities when the democratic President took his seat. The nation is now at peace with all the world while exercising a watchful waiting policy. Some of the paragraphs in the book recall the repeal of the Panama tolls, currency revision, legislation on European war emergency, international peace treaties, Japanese controversy, dollar diplomacy, restoration of peace in Santo Domingo and the progressive democratic legislation generally which is proving satisfactory to the great majority of the country.

HOARDING OF MONEY.

The charge by Secretary McAdoo that a number of the banks of the South are hoarding their money far in excess of the requirements of the treasury is sustained by an examination of some of the bank statements showing the condition of the banks on September 12th. One National Bank, less than a hundred miles from Alexandria, shows that it has on deposit $244,667.56 and that it has the following cash resources: Due from national banks, $48,551.33 due from approved reserve agents, $56,774.91, checks and other cash items, $4,391,-00 cash on hand $13,138.74, bonds and securities $14,700, a total of $134,000 or about sixty per cent of its deposits.

EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION.

John Garland Pollard, attorney general of Virginia, who was Tuesday night accorded an ovation in front of Anti-Saloon League headquarters here when the early returns from the prohibition-local option election indicated that the state had gone prohibition by a large majority, gave out the following statement. He said:

"I am glad that the fight with all its bitterness is over and that the majority is so decisive that we may reasonably hope that the question is put at rest. The temperance question ought to be removed from politics and if those who voted against prohibition will cheerfully accept the overwhelming verdict of the people, and are willing to unite in upholding the law, it will enable our people to turn their attention away from a question which creates such bitter animosities, to the many other problems which affect the welfare of our state. As long as the whisky question is an issue it occupies the 'center of the stage,' and all other questions are relegated to the rear.

"It now becomes the duty of all loyal citizens, whether they voted for or against prohibition, to unite in making the measure a success. The opponents of prohibition predicted the passage of the law would be followed by a total disregard of its provisions. In this I hope that they are mistaken, but if there are in the state any considerable number of men who are determined to bring the law in disrepute, and if such men should obtain the sympathy of any considerable portion of our citizenship, then the fight has just begun and the question will remain in politics to the detriment of the other interests of the state. The election divided men who honestly differed as to the best remedy for the evil of intemperance. Today the battle shifts. Hereafter the fight is between the friends of law and the promoters of lawlessness. Personally, I have no fear of the result of such a fight in Virginia.

RETURN AFTER 22 YEARS.

Virginian, Given up as Dead, Revisits Old Home.

Luray, Va., Sept. 24.—Grizzled and gray, showing evidences of his 22 years' wandering since he disappeared from his home in Powell's Fort, Shenandoah county, George Duncan, now 75 years of age, has returned to his old home. Many efforts were made to gain some knowledge of the whereabouts of Duncan, but all were in vain.

When he returned there was scarcely anyone who recognized him. A son had grown out of the old man's recollection and the baby of the Duncan home when the father left a girl of 10 years—has married and her 13-year-old son was among the first to greet the wanderer.

Duncan was a hunter and trapper and for years it was believed that he had been killed in the mountains. Several years after Duncan disappeared the bones of a human—and from measurement and other evidences pronounced those of Duncan—were found near his home. He was given up as lost by his family.

Attorney General Was Active in Work for Statewide Prohibition.

Richmond, Sept. 24.—Though Attorney General Pollard haz thus far refrained from announcing himself as a candidate for Governor, he was hailed as "our next Governor" when he entered the headquarters of the Anti-Saloon League Tuesday night.

The Attorney General, who has taken an active and aggressive part in the campaign, and who is one of the staunchest Statewide prohibitionists in Virginia, was on his way to the Anti-Saloon League headquarters to get the returns when he was blocked by a cheering crowd, hailed as the next Governor of Virginia, and forced to make a short speech.

"I congratulate you on the victory we have won," he said, "but we must not think that the war is over. The evil is still here, and the fight has just begun."

ITALY HOLDING AMERICANS.

Does Not Recognize Their Claim as Naturalized Citizens.

Rome (via Paris), Sept. 24.—Owing to the absence of a naturalization treaty between America and Italy the latter is not recognizing the right of Italians to become citizens of the United States with a view of avoiding military service. A number of naturalized Americans of Italian birth have not been allowed to return to the United States owing to their liability for military service in the Italian army.

Many of these cases entail hardships, especially when those detained have families in America. Thomas Nelson Page, American Ambassador to Italy, has interested himself in their behalf. Those detained include the Revs. Dominick Cassetta and Gustave Danchise, of New York, and Rev. Raymond Carra, of New Orleans all of whom have parishes and have lived in America since childhood.

He left a note to his wife stating that he was broken hearted and "broken in brain."

LODGE'S FORECAST

Will be no Peace Until Allies or Germans are Crushed.

New York, Sept. 24—That there will be no peace in Europe until either the Germans or the allies are crushed was the opinion expressed yesterday by United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts ranking member of the senate foreign relations committee, when he returned with his wife on the liner Olympic after a long stay in Europe.

"We must dismiss from our minds at once any idea of speedy peace in Europe which will leave everything in the same way that it was in July," said Senator Lodge. "This will never be. Either Germany will dictate or the allies will dictate. There will be no half-way measures about it.

"This talk about peace was originated by German agents for the purpose of influencing public opinion here and elsewhere. There is no reality in it. If the United States government permits itself to be used at this time by the originators of all peace talk, it will be placed in an absurd position and lessen its future influence. The time may come when our good offices may be effectively used for the restoration of peace in Europe, but that time has not come yet.

"If Germany conquers France, England and Russia, she will dominate Europe, and will extend that domination subsequently to the rest of the world, if she can.

"England, Belgium and France believe they are fighting the battle for freedom and democracy against militarism and autocracy—the battle for public law against the law of the sword and the battle for the right of small nations to exist. Russia believes she is fighting against German domination for the freedom and right of class population everywhere. All the allies are determined that they will put an end to the conditions that made this hideous calamity possible. They will fight on until this purpose is accomplished."

The Daughters will continue in session until Friday evening. Officers will be elected Friday.

CLAYTON BILL READY.

After Months of Consideration in Both Houses, Conferees Agree on Final Report.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The Clayton anti trust bill, second of the administration trust legislative measures, at last is ready for final consideration of Congress, after many months' of deliberation in both houses. Conferees agreed upon their final report yesterday, completing a measure that is a combination of features of both Senate and House bills.

Primarily, the bill would, as urgently suggested by President Wilson, punish individual officers of corporations violating the trust laws of the country. This section would provide that any director, officer or agent of a corporation violating the anti trust laws, or who might aid or counsel such violation, should be deemed guilty of a misdeameanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceding one year, or both.

Important changes made in the measure as it left the Senate relate to interlocking directorates, and exclusive contracts. The conferees restored the House section prohibiting interlocking directorates of bank directors with an amendment to provide.

"That from and after two years following the passage of the act, no person shall at the same time be a director or other officer or employe of more than one banking association or trust company in cities of more than 200,000, which has deposits, capital, surplus and undivided profits, aggregating more than $5,000,000.

The House bill fixed the capital limitation at $2,500,000 and contained no population limitation.

PROPOSES CUT IN SALARIES.

Bill Introduced in Senate to Cut Down Salaries of Officials.

Washington, Sept. 24.—President's Wilson's salary will be cut $9,000, while the salary of every other Federal employe who draws a hundred dollars a month or more will be reduced beginning November 1, as a wa reconomy measure, if a bill introduced this afternoon by Senator Sheppard of Texas is passed.

The proposed cut begins at $1,200 salaries at 2 per cent, scaling up to 12 per cent on all salaries in excess of $6,000, so that the full effect of the cut would be felt by Senators, Representatives, and Cabinet officers All army and navy officials would also be affected by this cut.

Senator Sheppard has been particularly displeased by the cut in the river and harbor appropriations on account of the war emergency, and he feels that all divisions of the Government service should also economize.

RUSSIANS DEFEAT GERMANS.

Paris, Sept 24—The Petrograd correspondent of Le Matin wires that the Russians under General Rennenkampf have defeated the Germans in a battle in Russian territory.

The correspondent says the Germans were trapped by the Russians, who apparently retreated disorganized only to rally after the Germans had reached a position which they could not hold.

The Germans are evacuating East Prussia, Le Matin's correspondent says to reenforce the Thron-Kalicz front.
